Effort To Learn Language Almost Universal But Means Are Inadequate

The attendance of 3,000 persons, nearly all of them Japanese, at a contest tournament in Tokio, conducted in the English tongue, brings graphically the tremendous hold that language has acquired in the Far East. The desire for English is almost universal in Japan, but the methods of achieving the language are inadequate. Many of the teachers themselves are Japanese who never learned properly to speak English, although they may have an intimate knowledge of the language.

Tall, multi-story buildings line both sides of the street. Pedestrians are visible on the sidewalks, and the overall atmosphere is one of a bustling urban environment. The photograph is framed by a thin black border.
